We give below the names of the different Presidents of the United States with the dates of their holding office together with the different aspirants for the office of President and Vice President. It will be found a useful reference.

The following is a list of the Presidents and Vice Presidents of the United States, as well as those who were candidates for each office, since the organization of the Government:

1789—George Washington and John Adams; two terms to opposition.

1797—John Adams; opposed by Thos. Jefferson, who, having the next highest electoral vote, became Vice President.

1801—Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr; beat John Adams and Charles C. Pinckney.

1805—Thos. Jefferson and Geo. Clinton; beat Charles C. Pinckney and Rufus King.

1809—James Madison and Geo. Clinton; beat Charles C. Pinckney.

1813—James Madison and Eldridge Gerry; beat John C. Calhoun.

1817—James Monroe and Daniel D. Tompkins; beat John Quincy Adams.

1821—John Quincy Adams and John C. Calhoun; beat Andrew Jackson, Henry Clay and Mr. Crawford, there being four candidates for President, and Albert Gallatin for Vice President.

1825—Andrew Jackson and John C. Calhoun; beat John Quincy Adams and Richard Rush.

1829—Andrew Jackson and Martin Van Buren; beat Henry Clay, John Floyd and William Wirt, for President; and William Wilkins, John Seagrave, and Henry Lee, for Vice President.

1833—Martin Van Buren and Richard M. Johnson; beat William H. Harrison, Hugh L. White, and Daniel Webster, for President; and John Tyler for Vice President.

1837—William H. Harrison and John Tyler; beat Martin Van Buren and Littleton W. Tazewell. Harrison died one month after his inauguration, and John Tyler became President for the rest of the term.

1841—James K. Polk and George M. Dallas; beat Henry Clay and Theodore Frelinghuysen.

1845—Zachary Taylor and Millard Fillmore; beat Lewis Cass and Martin Van Buren, for President; and Wm. O. Butler and Chas. F. Adams, for Vice President. Taylor died July 9th, 1850, and Fillmore became President.

1850—Franklin Pierce and Wm. R. King; beat Winfield Scott and Wm. A. Graham.

1853—James Buchanan and John A. Breckinridge; beat John C. Fremont and Millard Fillmore, for President; and Wm. L. Dayton and A. J. Donelson for Vice President.

1861—Abraham Lincoln and Hannibal Hamlin; beat John Bell, Stephen A. Douglas and John C. Breckinridge, for President; and Edward Everett, Herschel V. Johnson and Joseph Lane, for Vice President.

THE SUGAR PROCLAMATION.—Following is the sugar proclamation, for publishing which, as received by telegraphic dispatch from Washington, the New York World and Journal of Commerce were recently suspended by the military authorities:

EXECUTIVE MANSION, May 17, 1864.

Yellow Citizens of the United States: In all seasons of exigencies it becomes a nation carefully to scrutinize its line of conduct, humbly to approach the Throne of Grace and meekly to implore forgiveness, wisdom and guidance. For reasons known only to Him, it has been decreed that this country should be the scene of unparalleled outrage, and this nation the monumental sufferer of the nineteenth century.

With heavy heart, but undiminished confidence in our cause, I approach the performance of a duty rendered imperative by my sense of weakness before the Almighty and of justice to the people. It is not necessary that I should tell you that the first Virginia campaign under Lieutenant General Grant, in whom I have every confidence, and whose courage and fidelity the people do well to honor, is virtually closed. He has conducted this great enterprise with discreet ability; he has crippled their strength and defeated their plans. In view, however, of the situation in Virginia and disaster at Red River, delay as Charleston and general state of the country, I, Abraham Lincoln, do hereby recommend that Thursday, the 26th day of May, 1864, be set apart through the United States as a day of fasting, humiliation and prayer.

Deeming, furthermore, that the present condition of affairs presents an extraordinary occasion, and in view of the power vested in me by the Constitution and laws, I have thought fit to call forth, and hereby do call forth citizens of the United States between the ages of 18 and 45, to the aggregate number of 400,000; in order to suppress existing rebellious combinations and cause due execution of the laws; and furthermore, in case any State or number of States shall fail to furnish, by the 15th day of June next, their assigned quotas, it is hereby ordered that they be raised by immediate and compulsory draft. Details of the object will be communicated to the State authorities through the War Department.

I appeal to all loyal citizens to favor, facilitate and aid this effort to maintain the honor and integrity and existence of the National Union and perpetuity of the popular Government.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at Washington this 17th day of May, in the year of our Lord 1864, and of the Independence of the United States the eighty-eighth.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

WILLIAM H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

SERIOUS CHARGES AGAINST GEN. BUTLER.—A notable letter states that Gen. Butler's last order is much commented on, he requiring all Southern papers to pass through his office, to be given to whom he pleases.

The World correspondent also alleges serious charges of cruelty and inhumanity, which, if true, ought to receive the severest censure of the Government. It is asserted that one Hodges, a Bank Director, for stating in testimony: "When Gen. Butler asked if he sent away certain money before or after he had been served with an order of the general, he replied, 'I did not know it.' " "Put this man in the guard house, on bread and water, until he can speak the truth," was the order which followed, and Hodges has been ever since. A report to Mr. McCormick, Gen. Butler's medical Director, will show that, up to Tuesday of last week, "men have been confined in Fort Monroe, on bread and water for forty-eight and fifty days, and that if they had not been supplied with food by fellow prisoners, they would have died of actual starvation."—Exchange.

"The above may be true, but we should like to know where the 'fellow prisoners' obtained the food to give them."

THE VIRGINIA PRISONERS.—The following are the names of the prisoners who were taken at the battle of the Wilderness, and who are now in the hands of the Confederates:

During the past year the Virginia land mines have been enough for ten millions of ounces of dynamite, and this year the quantity will be doubled.

The public attention is respectfully requested to the following

Card from the Grover & Baker S. M. Company.

The public, in their eagerness to supply themselves with Sewing Machines making the Grover & Baker stitch must not forget to purchase them of the parties who alone are authorized to sell them. All machines sewing from the spools and in which one needle only penetrates the cloth, and having a feed which allows the material to be turned at will are infragments!

GROVER & BAKER, S. M. CO.

A Card from Elias Howe, Jr.

All persons are cautioned not to make, deal in, or use any Sewing Machines which sew front two spools and make the stitch known as the Grover & Baker stitch, unless the same are purchased from the GROVER & BAKER SEWING COMPANY, or their Agents, or Licensees, and stamped under my patent of September, 1846.

Said Company and their Licensees, alone, are legally authorized under their own patents, and my said patent, during the extended term thereof, to make and sell this kind of Sewing Machines, and all others are pirates upon my said patent, and will be dealt with accordingly wherever found.
